

GENERAL DATA PROTECTION REGULATION (GDPR) TRAINING:

Businesses that operate data protection policies and procedures will be able to differentiate themselves from the many companies that are still struggling with getting to grips with this new EU legislation. Readiness for the GDPR could be used as a positive selling point.

The training which L2 Cyber Security Solutions provide covers everything from Board Awareness, to overviews and detailed training for management and staff. We could also deliver regular staff top-up training. Templates for data auditing, privacy statement and data protection policy, are just some of what is also provided.

Structure:

We provide an interactive workshop, with individual and group participation in discussing the new EU data protection regulation. It is delivered in a manner which is easy for people who have no data privacy experience to comprehend and does not over-exaggerate the situation. The Board/Executive level awareness is a 30-40 minute high-level talk about the GDPR.

All Management and Staff would benefit from the half-day training which covers:

- Identifying the principles of data privacy and the key changes in Data Protection legislation and how they will impact your business.
- Understanding Individuals rights and your business's obligations under the regulation.
- Raising staff awareness.
- Awareness of liabilities & penalties under the GDPR.

For Staff that would be responsible for data protection, we have a full-day of training which covers the above 4 topics and adds the following:

- Obtaining consent and knowing the legal basis for processing.
- How to effectively conduct a data audit for your business.
- Knowing when to carry out a Data Protection Impact Assessment (DPIA).
- Guidance on how to prepare a Data Protection compliance plan.

Training can also be customised to suit a client's particular needs and situation.
